HOW DOES CORNPAC WORK?

NCGA and state affiliate members contribute to CornPAC.

The CornPAC Committee (made up of grower members), with input from the Public Policy team, develops a strategy for maximum impact. That strategy is guided by a scorecard, which provides a point value based on actions on priority legislative and regulatory issues; committee assignments; leadership positions; etc.

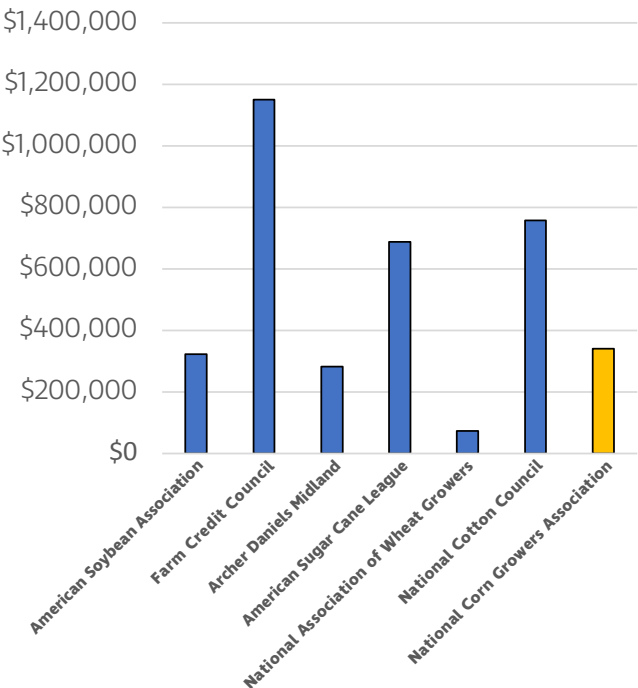

CornPAC provides support to federal candidates who have a demonstrated record of supporting agricultural interests.

Getting involved is easy! Simply fill out the attached contribution card and return it to:

National Corn Growers Association
Attn: CornPAC

or visit cornpac.ncga.com to contribute online.

HOW DO WE COMPARE?

*Contribution receipts from the 2020 election cycle.

We need your support to ensure the corn industry's Political Action Committee is consistent with our marketplace presence and importance within the agriculture sector.

WHY GET INVOLVED?

"CornPAC gives farmers a seat at the table when laws that could impact the competitiveness of U.S. agriculture are developed. I encourage all NCGA members to join."
– John Linder | Edison, Ohio

"Why do I contribute? It's one way I can help to keep good elected officials in office. I believe giving back is important, whether to charities or the organization that defends and promotes my livelihood as a grower. CornPAC allows me to engage in our political system and make a difference toward electing officials who understand and support the corn industry."
– Dan Nerud | Dorchester, Nebraska

"The CornPAC Committee and NCGA's Public Policy staff do the research that I can't, and frankly don't have time to do. The CornPAC Committee is made up of people like me and I trust their judgment. They make sure our money is spent wisely."
– Susie Spurlock | Stratford, Texas
